

違いがありますか？

Is there any difference in relative apparent size at different sight distances?

Resolving apparent gaps based on the Missing Function on the display: θ , the apparent size of the object (θ)